

The Yolo Democrat
Thursday, January 31st, 1878.
General News Items.

Martin J. White has been appointed Postmaster at Vallejo.
About 500 tailors struck for an increase of wages in Chicago Monday.
The failure of Bliss, Moore & Co., wholesale grocers of Chicago, is announced.
President Diaz leaving the Mexican soldiers in draining valleys and working on roads.
Indiana has the largest State School fund of any State in the Union. It amounts to $8,570,872.
There is a feeling at Portland, Me., that civil service reform is some sort of a skin disease.
An assessment of $1 per share was levied by the Ophir Trustees on the 19th, aggregating $100,000.
Upon occupying Kishinev the Servians found twenty-four Serbian soldiers and two officers impaled.
The Sultan and Government have decided to quit Constantinople as soon as the Russian reach Tchaikoff.
Pugs & Sprague, of Chicago, dealers in oils, paints and glass, have failed. Secured debts, $105,000; unsecured, $30,000.
The question between the Argentine Republic and Chile, concerning the Patagonian frontier, is to be decided by arbitration.
A printer named McCloskey had his knee fractured and was otherwise badly injured at Eureka, Nevada, Saturday, by a runaway team.
The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce endorse the McCloskey petition, and call on the legislative delegation of that city to support it.
About 300 men were set at work in San Francisco Monday by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company filling in Mission Bay.
Congressman Page introduced into the House of Representatives Monday certain resolutions of the California Legislature favoring appropriations.
A run-in being made on the Odd Fellows Savings Bank in San Francisco. The bank is paying out $50 on demand and requiring two days' notice on all $100.
A military telegraph has been completed from Fort Porter to Fort McKenney, and will probably be pushed to the two military posts on the Yellowstone.
The Cincinnati Times is overwhelmed occasionally with an overpowering sense of theathomless knowledge and the unutterable wisdom of the New York newspapers.
The Cincinnati Enquirer says: Hayes had his silver wedding at the White House. But there is no telling what an elegant affair it had with other guests, blossoms and all that sort of thing. If Sammy Tilden had been allowed to occupy the premises.
A communication was presented to the Senate Monday on behalf of Dennis Kearney and L. L. Knight. It was referred to a special committee consisting of Senators Lewis, Dean and Fowler. Mr. Donovan introduced a bill to provide for a bureau of labor statistics, and several bills regarding cemetery rules and sanitary regulations.
Anything in the world that the United States Government can do to compensate distillers for the trouble given them by Briarwood ought to be undertaken cheerfully and without a moment's hesitancy. It was, remarks the Chicago Times, a great cruelty to accuse these distillers of robbing the Government, and a greater outrage to prove it. Let them have justice.
The Wheeling, W. Va., Register says: In attempting to reform the Civil Service of the country, Hayes is but carrying out the letter and spirit of the St. Louis platform and of Mr. Tilden's letter of acceptance, and in this the Democratic Senators must solidly support him. Mr. Hayes' success or failure is in his own hands. An amiable and firm adherence to the right and he triumphs; a deviation and he is crushed.
Lizet, the great pianist, is now at Rome. It is one of his peculiarities in which many other musicians are like him—that he will only consent to play after much pressure and flattery. Not long ago a lady, who was expecting him to join her evening concert, looked her piano and the key in her pocket before he arrived. Nobody asked or even hinted for music; but Lizet was not at ease. He wandered around the instrument a while, and finally asked his hostess for the key, and presently her guests heard him at his very best.
A man from Boston would not confess to an achievement at anything he saw in Nevada. As he was passing a hotel in Virginia City, a cap blew from one of the chimneys. It was a circular piece of sheet iron, painted black, slightly convex, and the four supporters were like legs. The wind carried it down street, and it went straggling along like a living thing. The Boston man inquired what it was. A bed-bug from the hotel, was the reply. "By George I never saw anything like that," he began, and then he added, "outside of Boston."
If you want to be completely puzzled, says the Home Newspaper, watch the movements of a great man to-day, whose one darling ambition is to be greater, you will see him going back upon his own tracks, eating his own words, countenancing his friends and astounding confederates. When once bitten by the cockatrice of unscrupulous ambition the man is thenceforth damned. There is no telling where such a man will go. The fatal attraction of his own mind is ambition, like the lion in the Hesperian fable, he will likely to draw him from a straight course and wreck him.
C. F. Huntington manages in person the Congressional business of the C. P. and S. P. roads. He has a letter from parties in Detroit, Michigan, who are desirous of obtaining information concerning John R. Bergan, who in 1857 was Chief Clerk in the Quartermaster's Department at Benton, in 1858 lived at Postmaster's office in Washington, and in 1859 was in Sacramento Valley Railroad, and in 1859 was located in Sacramento. Any information furnished Mr. Huntington will be transferred to the inquirers.
The Old Chinaman who peddles peanuts touched at the College the other noon, says the Napa Register, when one of the boys, who is a Russian, shouted "Peanutski for the crowd!" With this rallying cry, the old fellow made, "John" cheerfully capitulating for "two dollars," which was speedily raised, and the students got a 100-pound sack of fat roasted peanuts. The number of shells that burst in the camp of the invaders that night was immense, and the Russian said it reminded him of Plevna.
There is a man in Indianapolis who will probably meet the same death as Mr. Cabot, of Enfield. He was bitten some months ago by a cat, and though he was promptly cauterized, he has made himself about crazy by imagining that he is going to die of hydrophobia. He leads all medical literature bearing on hydrophobic cases, and when any painful manifesto itself near the old hurt, then he beats upon his chest as if he were at last. His physician thinks he will soon develop the disease purely by imagination.
The San Jose Argus thus makes a frantic appeal for news items. When anybody dies, gets married, runs away, steals anything, builds a house, makes a big sale, or whips his man—or his wife—breaks his leg, or gets the senses kicked out of him by a mule, or does anything that is in any way remarkable, and you have reason to believe that you know as much about the occurrence as anybody else, don't wait for some other person to report it or trust us to find it out by instinct, but come and tell us about it, or send the facts on a postal card.

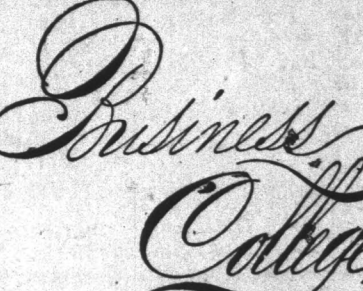

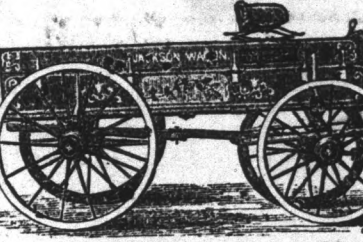

The Russian losses to January 10th are officially stated at $2,195.
Flattering accounts of oil discoveries in Dakota continue to be received.
The steamship Ponca has been sunk in a collision off Liverpool and two persons drowned.
The President has nominated B. F. Peixoto, of California, for United States Consul at Lyons.
The Bullion Mining Company have levied an assessment of $1 per share, amounting to $100,000.
The Senate has confirmed the nomination of A. W. Poole as United States Marshal for California.
About 1,000 feet of Stern's wharf at Santa Barbara was carried away Tuesday night by the waves.
The French Chamber of Deputies has approved the annexation of the island of St. Bartholomew.
A dispatch from Havana states that the steamer Blake is ashore at Bahia Honda in a dangerous situation.
Ex-Congressman Wigginton, at present in Washington, has received notice of the death of his daughter in California.
The trial of Judge George Yellett at Annapolis, Maryland, for drunkenness while on the bench, resulted in his acquittal.
One of the agents of the Signal Service Bureau was the victim of a fearful ride down the mountainside at Washington last Monday.
By the explosion of a kerosene lamp in Wells, Fargo & Co's office at Petaluma a serious conflagration came near occurring.
The arbitrator on the wages question in the South Staffordshire, England, iron trade, has decided that wages should be reduced 7 1/2 per cent.
Haulon, the Canadian oarsman, has challenged Morris, of Pittsburgh, to row five miles for a purse of $1,000 and the championship of America.
The Washington Post says: The Republicans of the bread and butter brigade now call Hayes' supporters "Oleomargarine Republicans."
The South Carolina Supreme Court decides that Circuit Judges must be elected by ballot instead of viva voce. This ousts all the Circuit Judges in that State.
The run on the Odd Fellows' and Clay Street Savings Bank in San Francisco has entirely ceased, and Wednesday only ordinary business was transacted.
If Stanley Mathews is to secure a Foreign appointment, the Philadelphia Chronicle hopes he will be appointed Minister Extraordinary to discover if there is a place of endless punishment.
Fredrick Cook is a basket-maker of Schuylers Falls, New York, who is one hundred years old and walks eight miles every time he carries his wares from his home to market. He is yet to be tried.
Nine horses belonging to Mr. Ramirez, were drowned near Los Angeles several days ago, by flood caused by melting snow on the San Gabriel mountains.
A Long Island 10-year-old girl eloped with a 40-year-old man. And this, remarks the Philadelphia Chronicle, is another reason why Simon Cameron should not be President.
Even H. H. Tread, the Philadelphia Chronicle says, is poking fun at Hayes now. The other day he accidentally ate down in a pail of water, at which he quietly remarked: "There, now, they can call me a thief, but they can't say I got this fishy sent by fraud."
Luttrell has introduced a bill in the House to prohibit the employment of Chinese or Mongolians on any public works of the United States; or any ship or vessel sailing under a United States flag. Its violation to be punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both.
The Salt Lake Tribune compliments the present Mormon Legislature as follows: The Speaker's stand in the Legislature is a cross between a cradle and a pulpit. This is as it should be, as Apostle Orson who now occupies it, has done noble work both in the pulpit and in the legislature.
One of the richest discoveries was made on the 12th instant at the Rancho mines, a short distance west of Pueblo, Colorado. Mr. Min, an old prospector, struck a lead of ore, from which have been made assays of the enormous sum of $12,000 in gold and $1,100 in silver per ton. There is great excitement in the camp and everybody is rushing to the scene of the new discovery.
The funeral of Samuel Bowles will be private, but a memorial service is to be held at the Church of the Unity on Wednesday next, to which his friends are invited. This service should be, as Apostle Orson who now occupies it, has done noble work both in the pulpit and in the legislature.
An awful suggestion comes from Washington, remarks the Cincinnati Commercial. It is that if Mr. Evans should conclude to retire from the Secretaryship of State, the President would tender the position to Mr. Barlow. In that case Conkling would certainly expire. The thought, as the London News says, "is tremendous and catastrophic."
The New York Times says: Mr. Eugene Lawrence believes that the coldness of women's feet is due to the machinations of the result of the President's policy, and Mr. Dio Lewis describes it as a lack of oil meal in the great nervous centres, and to the tightness of the new in other words—the excessive pressure exerted by India rubber.
Mr. Chandler will return to Washington a sadder and wiser man, remarks the St. Paul Pioneer Press. He has learned a lesson which many other Washington lobbyists besides should be made to learn, that the entreaties of Senators and Congressmen and their retinue of flunkies assembled in the chambers and lobbies of the Capitol are not the people of the United States.
Postmaster Hopping, of Sacramento, has received a letter from parties in Detroit, Michigan, who are desirous of obtaining information concerning John R. Bergan, who in 1857 was Chief Clerk in the Quartermaster's Department at Benton, in 1858 lived at Postmaster's office in Washington, and in 1859 was in Sacramento Valley Railroad, and in 1859 was located in Sacramento. Any information furnished Mr. Hopping will be transferred to the inquirers.
The Old Chinaman who peddles peanuts touched at the College the other noon, says the Napa Register, when one of the boys, who is a Russian, shouted "Peanutski for the crowd!" With this rallying cry, the old fellow made, "John" cheerfully capitulating for "two dollars," which was speedily raised, and the students got a 100-pound sack of fat roasted peanuts. The number of shells that burst in the camp of the invaders that night was immense, and the Russian said it reminded him of Plevna.

He was bitten some months ago by a cat, and though he was promptly cauterized, he has made himself about crazy by imagining that he is going to die of hydrophobia. He leads all medical literature bearing on hydrophobic cases, and when any painful manifesto itself near the old hurt, then he beats upon his chest as if he were at last. His physician thinks he will soon develop the disease purely by imagination.
The San Jose Argus thus makes a frantic appeal for news items. Bullion in the Bank of England increased $12,000 the past week.
The Postmaster at Logan, Utah, has taken to himself a third wife.
Intense alarm still prevails throughout England over the prospect of war.
The Pope is manifesting hostility to the Italian court and Government.
Aaron Bell has been confirmed by the Senate as Register of the Land Office at Shasta, California.
Mrs. Smith, the mother of five children, was outraged and murdered near Council Bluffs, Thursday, by a half-breed Indian.
A portion of Pesth, Hungary, is inundated by the rise in the Danube, and a recurrence of the disasters of 1874 is feared.
Henry Ward Beecher has accepted the Chaplaincy of the Thirteenth Regiment, the oldest military organization in Brooklyn.
One man was fatally and three others seriously injured by a gas explosion in the Holiday Street Theater, Baltimore, Wednesday.
A. W. Hoole, of Saltinas, has been appointed United States Marshal of the State of California in place of A. P. Marcellus, term expired.
The Philadelphia Times says: The President doesn't seem half as anxious to wage the party as the party does to wage the President.
The mail between Green River and Sweetwater, Utah, was recently robbed of letters containing drafts amounting to about $600,000.
Sarah P. Charles made an unsuccessful attempt to kill herself Wednesday evening on the west-bound emigrant train near Fremont, Nebraska.
The Connecticut House of Representatives has passed resolutions opposing the Bland silver bill and favoring a resumption of specie payments.
In a recent fire at Honolulu the King died as a fireman, and worked on the brakes of a hand engine. Over $500,000 worth of property was destroyed.
Thirteen of the eighteen banks which constitute the Chicago Clearing-house have forwarded to the Illinois Congressmen a protest against the passage of the Bland silver bill.
The anti-Hayes Republicans in the Senate are determined to compel the President to nominate only straight-out Republicans in the South, the United States Marshalships in the South.
The letter of W. E. Chandler attacking the President is approved by William Lloyd Garrison, who severely criticizes Hayes for his flagrant abandonment of his principles and pledges.
A New Jersey Democratic patriot rises to say that McClellan will be the next Democratic candidate for President, rather than Mr. Tilden, so that the office can be fought for if necessary.
The Baltimore Gazette says: It is a great mistake to imagine that Mr. Shurz is going to resign. His heart has bowed down so long while out of office, that it hasn't got all the curves out of it yet.
The lower Lake Bulletin would be a little more careful in giving proper credits for items selected from this paper. It is probable the editors of that journal would save him self from many well-deserved anathemas.
Mr. Scott Russell, the builder of the Crystal Palace at Sydney, has offered to convert the Colosseum at Rome into a world's fair building at the trifling expense of stretching a viaduct over the top and putting in new benches.
Of the men in the Senate who have been up in the past for nomination to the White House, the Pittsburgh Dispatch alleges that only Davis seems likely to be mentioned seriously hereafter in the presidential campaign. Davis occupies a sort of neutral ground, and is encumbered by no tradition or record worth speaking of.
The Hartford Times says: If Congress will stop tinkering with the currency, it will still leave silver and gold to take their natural course, we shall soon have specie payments and more confidence which is greatly needed. Should the Government pay its employees in gold occasionally it can do so without any sacrifice.
An old colored lady is reported to have said in the experience meeting: "Whenever I've got on a long journey, I'll pack my trunk along ways ahead, and I'll pack a little every day. Don't you see that when the whistle blow I'll be ready. An' just so I tries to do a little every day to get ready for the good world, so that when Gabrielle blows the big trumpet, I may have my trunk ready to go right on to de train."
An unusually painful scene occurred at the recent hanging of Jacob Harness in Clinton, Tenn. After the rope and black cap had been put on, the prisoner, who had been in the cell for some time, was taken to the gallows. He was then asked if he had anything to say. He said: "I have nothing to say but that I am a poor sinner, and I hope to go to heaven." He was then executed.
The force of hell evidently does not trouble the publishers of religious newspapers. Every week they continue to serve up the familiar hog-podge of irreligious advertising. They ruthlessly mix opium and optimism, and the modern method of loving conversion. They occupy a prominent place, their dye finds clerical recommendation, and corsets come in for illustrated puffs. Even pistols with 100 cartridges are offered for sale—possibly as the modern method of loving conversion. It is not an unusual thing for a religious newspaper to advertise swindling lotteries, and one paper uses the portrait of St. Anthony with a halo around his head as a liniment sign.
Miss Julia Smith, of Glastonbury, was described as "wintering" in Washington the other day. The Hartford Times promptly declares that, though she is eighty-six, she doesn't tolerate. For the past year she has frequently walked six miles in a day, and she walks almost every day, when at the postoffice, which is two miles from her residence. "She drives up to Hartford frequently, in her carriage, hitches her horse, skips about the city, does considerable business, settling the past year or two, as states as active as air, and drives back again, fresh and hearty, unless she stops over in the evening to deliver a speech at a woman's rights meeting."

DOUBLE-LOCK, SELF-SUPPORTING PORTABLE FENCE!
This fence was invented by Mr. Howe, who resides in Woodland, and is well known in this county as being superior to any that has ever been used here, and it is also
CHEAPER THAN ANY OTHER!
Each panel is separate and simply slips into another, and when put together can be drawn off bodily by hitching to the end of it.
It cannot be blown over by the wind.
Or pushed over by heavy loads. It can be made any height or length of panels to suit. It is very easily put together and taken apart, and is very strong, and two men and teams will take down, move and put up again—anywhere in a few minutes. It is a great saving to the farmer, and it is also a great saving to the contractor.
For references apply to any of the principal Farmers of Yolo County, or address me at Woodland, Yolo County, Cal.
